

iD Tech Camps

Held at Trinity College, Wesleyan University, Southern Connecticut State University, Fairfield University, Stanford, Princeton and 150 campuses nationwide.

1-888-709-8324

www.iDTech.com

iD Tech is the world's leading provider of summer STEM programs for ages 7-18. Since 1999, the company has been delivering transformational, hands-on learning experiences that embolden the next generation to shape the future.

With more than 50 courses to choose from, iD Tech has something for every student. From coding and game development to robotics and design, kids and teens learn in-demand skills and ignite lifelong passions.

The unique blend of summer camp activities, cutting-edge education, and small class sizes creates the perfect environment for students to thrive and build skills that last long after summer. Day and overnight programs begin the week of June 24 and run for seven weeks, depending on the location. Each week, students receive one-on-one instruction, make new friends, and complete a project they showcase at the Friday diploma event. Learn more at iDTech.com.